

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Transportation Infrastructure Polling

Key Points from Transportation Infrastructure Study

- Bipartisan agreement the federal government should invest more in roads, bridges, and public transportation systems
- Voters overwhelmingly recognize transportation infrastructure as important to the American economy, businesses and consumers like them
- Three in 4 voters say federal government should take the lead role in rebuilding our nation's transportation infrastructure by directing federal funds and providing incentives for private business

Methodology:

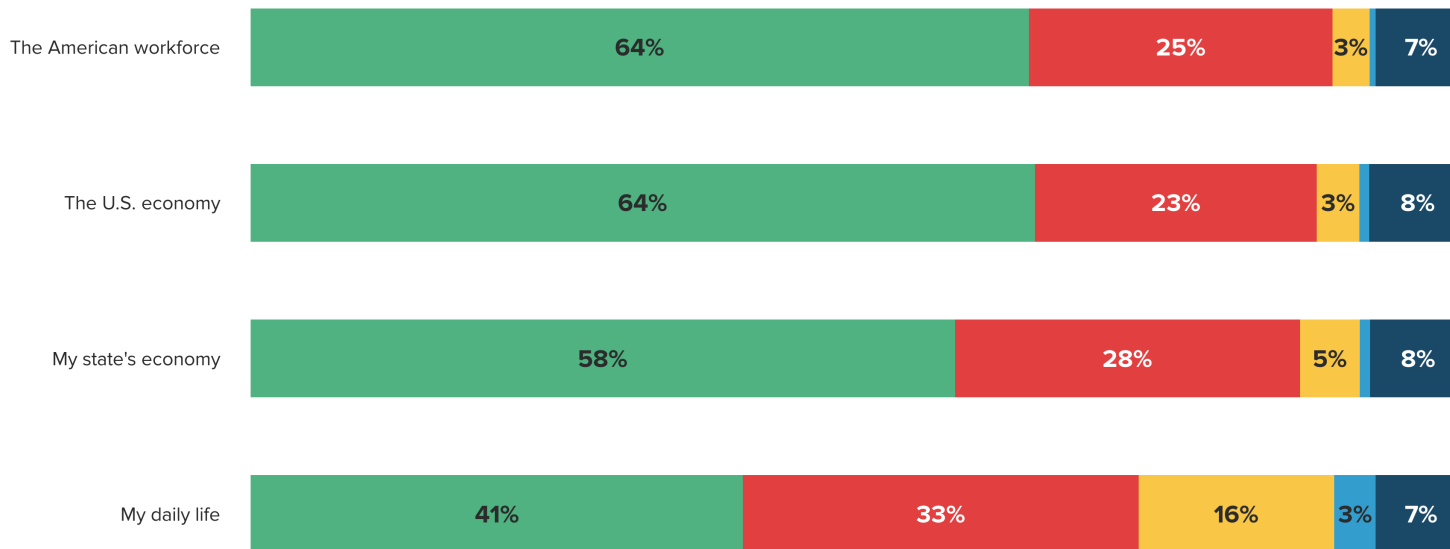

Morning Consult, on behalf of U.S. Chamber of Commerce, conducted an online survey of 1,996 registered voters from May 04-06, 2017. Results from the full survey have a margin of error of +/- 2 percentage points.

Voters Recognize Transportation Infrastructure Important to Economic, Personal Livelihood

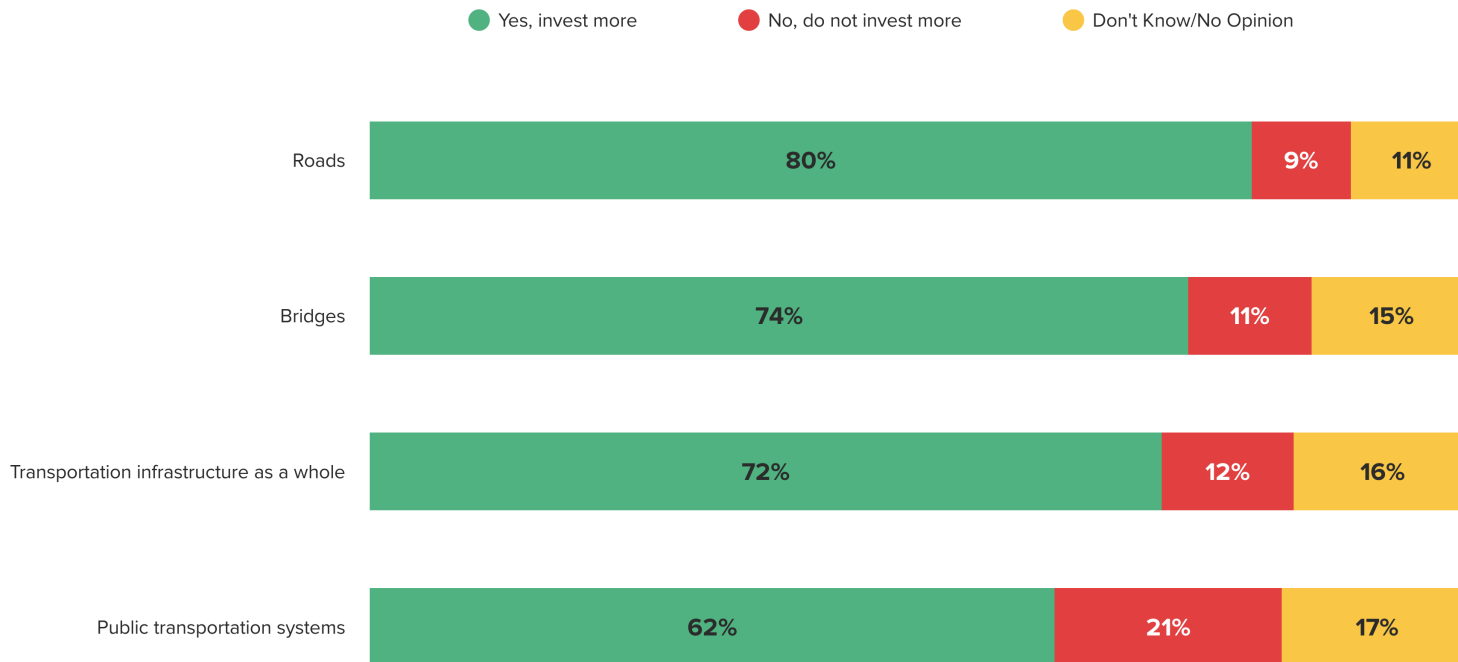

How important is our nation's transportation infrastructure to each of the following?

● Very important ● Somewhat important ● Not too important ● Not important at all ● Don't Know/No Opinion

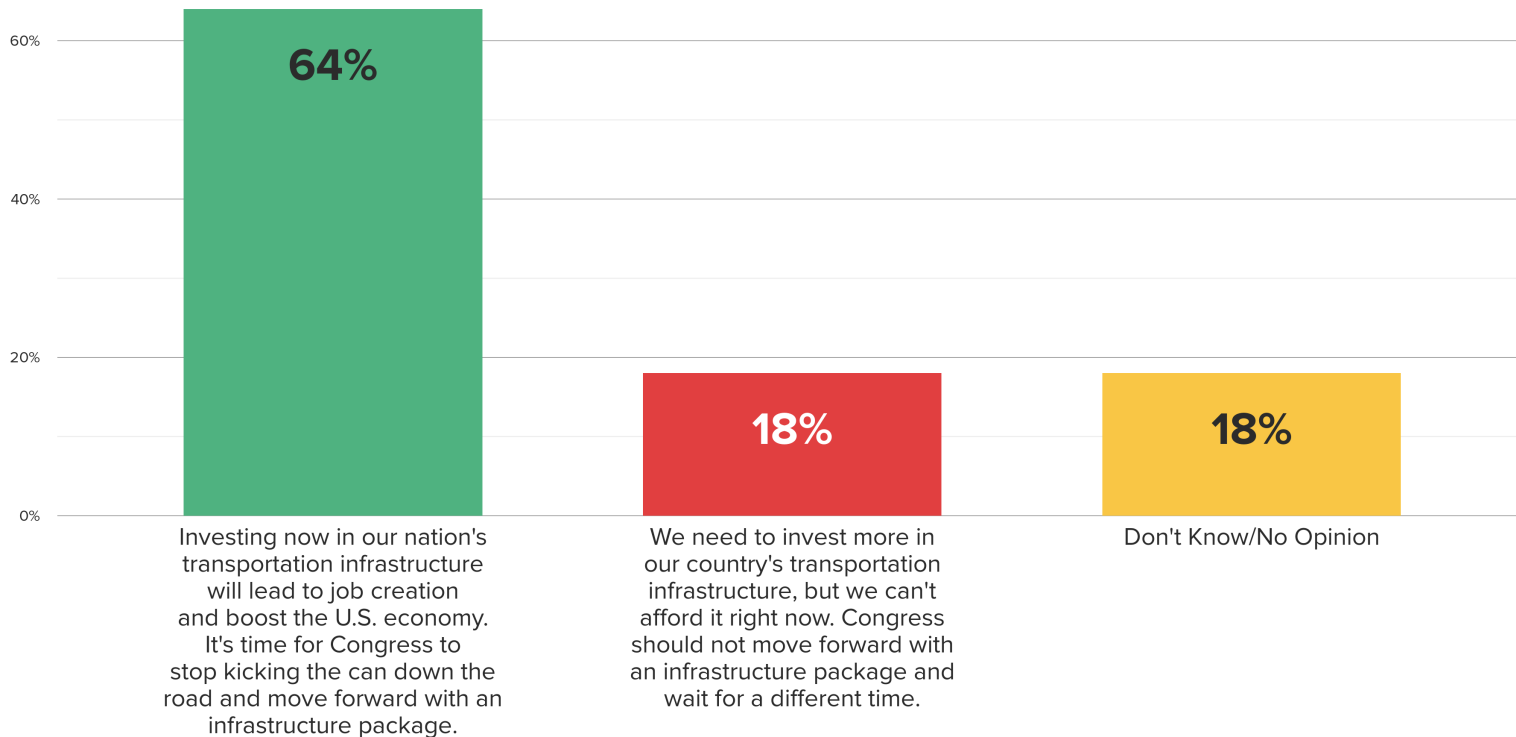

Which is Why Strong Majorities Say Federal Government Should Invest More in All Aspects of Ground Transportation Infrastructure

Should the U.S. government invest more in each of the following aspects of the country's ground transportation infrastructure?

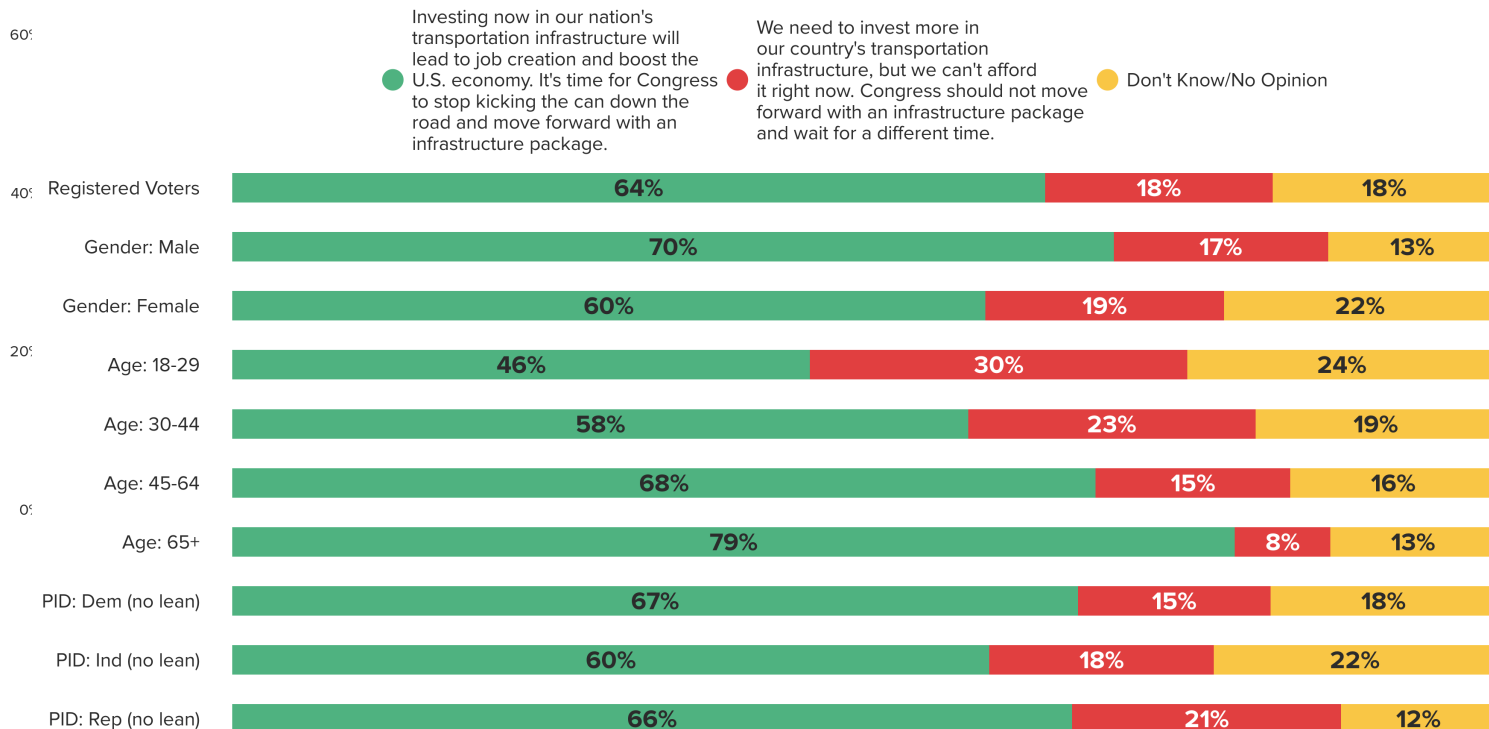

And Voters Want Congress to Pass a Transportation Infrastructure Package Now

Which of the following comes closest to your view, even if neither is exactly right?

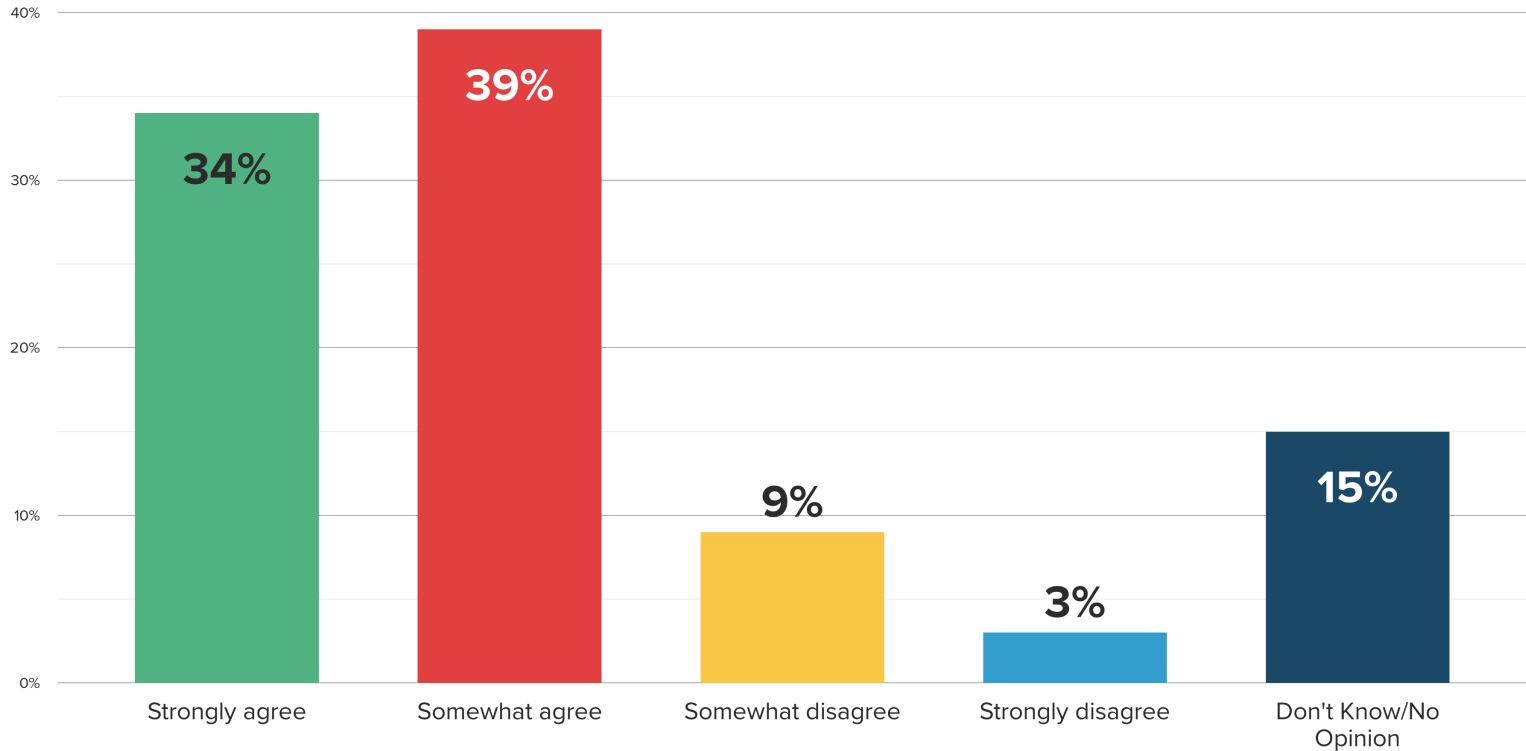

Two in 3 Democrats and Republicans Say Congress Should Move Forward with an Infrastructure Package

Which of the following comes closest to your view, even if neither is exactly right?

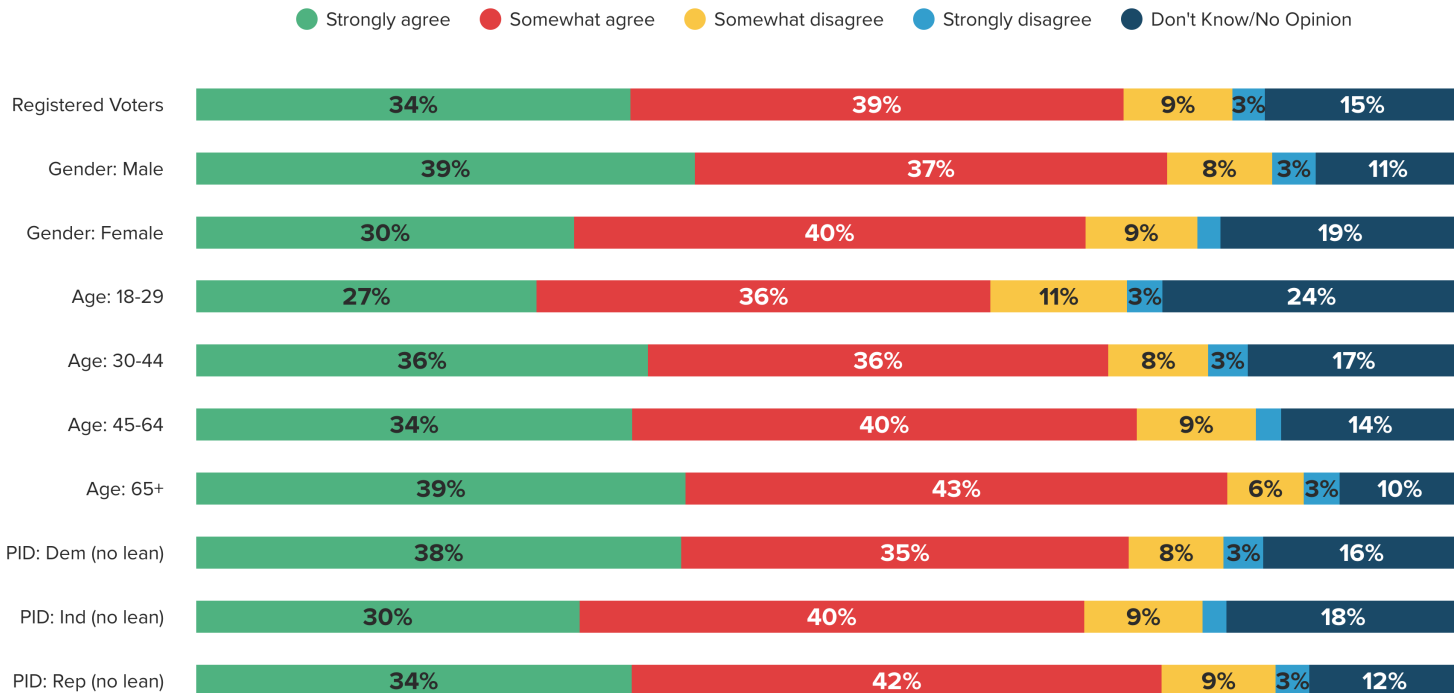

Overwhelming Agreement the Federal Government Should Take the Lead Role in Rebuilding Infrastructure

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement: The federal government should take the lead role in rebuilding our nation's transportation infrastructure by directing federal funds and providing incentives for private business

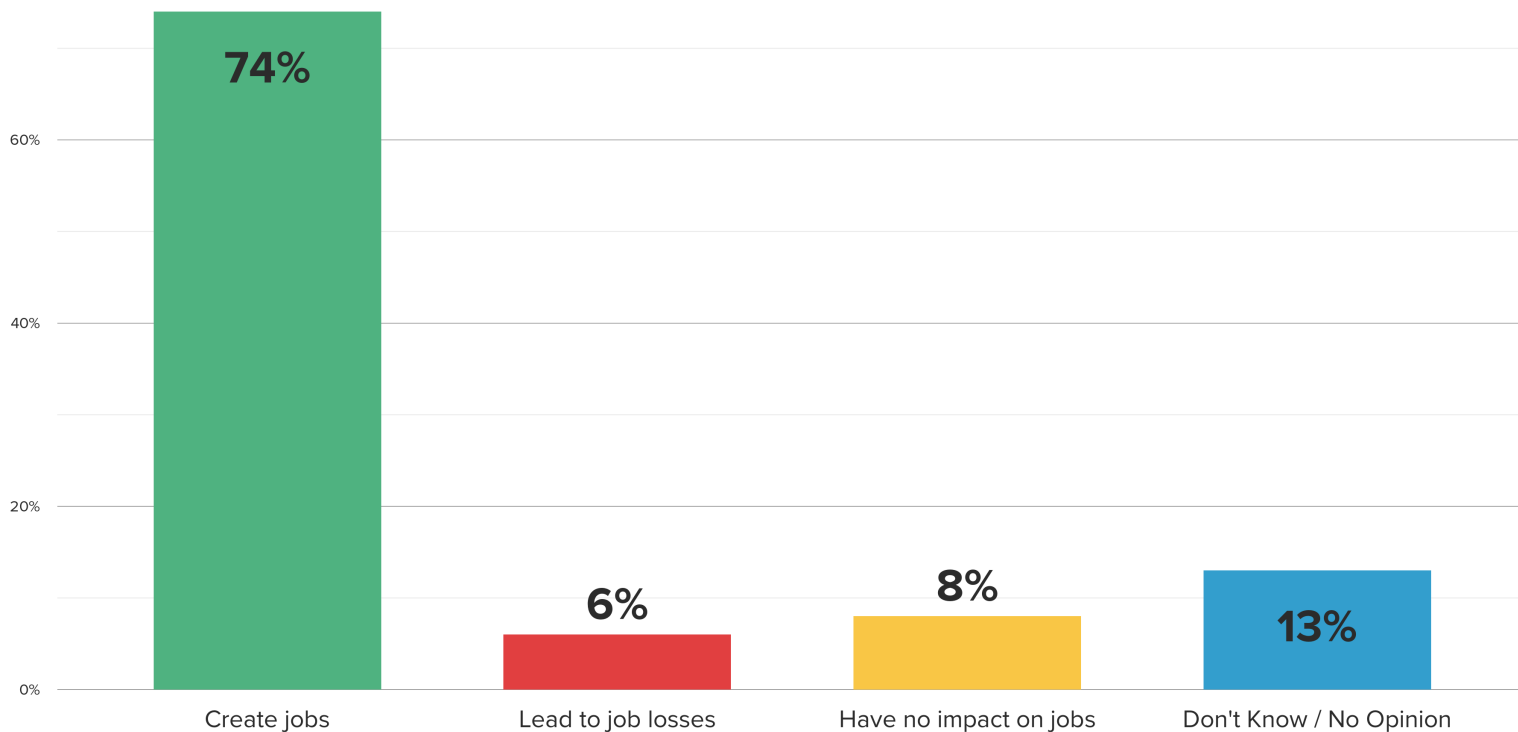

Strong Bipartisan Agreement: Federal Government Should Take Lead Role in Rebuilding Infrastructure

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement: The federal government should take the lead role in rebuilding our nation's transportation infrastructure by directing federal funds and providing incentives for private business

Voters Understand Increased Federal Investments in Infrastructure Will Create Jobs

Do you think increased government investment in the country's transportation infrastructure will...

And Strong Majority Say Increased Federal Investments Will Also Help American Businesses

Do you think increased government investment in the country's transportation infrastructure will...

