National Tracking Poll #170104
January 26-28, 2017

Crosstabulation Results

Methodology:

This poll was conducted from January 26-28, 2017, among a national sample of 1991 registered voters. The interviews were conducted online and the data were weighted to approximate a target sample of registered voters based on age, race/ethnicity, gender, educational attainment, and region. Results from the full survey have a margin of error of plus or minus 2 percentage points.

51 Table POL20A: Some people say for over 20 years it's been U.S. law that Jerusalem is the capital of Israel and that the President should move the U.S. embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem to recognize that. All previous Presidents have delayed moving the embassy, but it's time for the embassy to be moved and the law followed. // Other people say moving the embassy would hurt the peace process between Israel and its neighbors by making it seem like the United States was taking a side on a controversial question, and so should not be done until there is a final peace deal between the relevant parties. After reading those arguments, do you think the U.S. should move the embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem or not? 192

Table POL1_3: As you may know, presidents can issue executive orders, a power granted to them by the Constitution. Executive orders are not reviewed by Congress, have the authority of law and are typically used to direct the various agencies or departments under the president to take certain actions. Here are some executive orders that have been signed by President Trump during his first week in office. For each of the following, please indicate whether you APPROVE or DISAPPROVE of the executive order.

An order ending all federal aid for global health groups if those groups also provide abortion services, an additional prohibition to the current policy which bars using U.S. funds on abortion services directly.

Table POL1_6: As you may know, presidents can issue executive orders, a power granted to them by the Constitution. Executive orders are not reviewed by Congress, have the authority of law and are typically used to direct the various agencies or departments under the president to take certain actions. Here are some executive orders that have been signed by President Trump during his first week in office. For each of the following, please indicate whether you APPROVE or DISAPPROVE of the executive order.

An order asking the Army Corps of Engineers to grant fast approval to the Dakota Access Pipeline, which would carry crude oil from North Dakota

Table POL1_9: As you may know, presidents can issue executive orders, a power granted to them by the Constitution. Executive orders are not reviewed by Congress, have the authority of law and are typically used to direct the various agencies or departments under the president to take certain actions. Here are some executive orders that have been signed by President Trump during his first week in office. For each of the following, please indicate whether you APPROVE or DISAPPROVE of the executive order.

An order revoking federal funding for so-called sanctuary cities, which are localities or cities that do not prosecute undocumented immigrants for violating federal immigration laws.

Table POL20A: Some people say for over 20 years it's been U.S. law that Jerusalem is the capital of Israel and that the President should move the U.S. embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem to recognize that. All previous Presidents have delayed moving the embassy, but it's time for the embassy to be moved and the law followed. // Other people say moving the embassy would hurt the peace process between Israel and its neighbors by making it seem like the United States was taking a side on a controversial question, and so should not be done until there is a final peace deal between the relevant parties. After reading those arguments, do you think the U.S. should move the embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem or not?
